

Emissco continues to produce sanitiser products and distribute AdBlue during lockdown

16 February 2021

Leading aerosol and fluid manufacturer Emissco will continue to provide sanitiser products and AdBlue during the third national lockdown. The business distributes Yara Air1 AdBlue® throughout the UK and produces hand sanitiser dispensers as well as car sanitiser products.

Emissco's range of zero-contact hand sanitiser dispensers is designed to reduce the spread of viruses and bacteria in shared work areas. The machines are ideal for workplaces staying open during the lockdown and a zero-contact sanitiser dispensing nozzle ensures reduced contact contamination risk in use. The 10-litre capacity dispensers offer up to 20,000 doses before a refill is required. Currently, 5% of proceeds from all Emissco dispenser and sanitiser sales are eligible as a donation to Douglas MacMillan Hospice if DougieMac5 is quoted at checkout.

VIRA-BLAAAST car interior sanitiser products from Emissco help to combat viruses, while eliminating bacteria, fungi, mould and odours. The range includes the All-in-One Complete Vehicle Interior Sanitiser and Deodoriser as well as the Vehicle Surface Sanitiser. A complete kit is also available with both products, along with gloves and a window sticker. Designed for use by automotive professionals during services and MOTs or vehicle owners themselves, all VIRA-BLAAAST products help to deliver a safer and healthier car interior.

AdBlue is a crucial fluid for modern diesel vehicles, greatly reducing emissions. In fact, many modern diesel vehicles will not start without it. Emissco is the premium partner of Yara in the UK, the world's largest manufacturer of AdBlue, distributing Yara Air1 AdBlue® to retailers, garage forecourts and motor factors nationally. Emissco's customers can benefit from a seamless supply of the fluid from its on-site AdBlue tank farm in Staffordshire, with almost any quantity available to support the needs of individual vehicles owners or large-scale commercial fleets.

Mark Brickhill, CEO at Emissco, added: "Helping to improve safety in the workplace and ensuring that commercial diesel vehicles can stay on the road is incredibly important during this challenging period. At Emissco, we will continue to provide both sanitiser products and easy access to AdBlue in almost any quantity to ensure that our customers have the support they need."
