

Klarius helps deliver cost-effective exhaust repairs

28 February 2023

With the ongoing financial pressures on households today, being able to provide affordable and quality car repair options has become more crucial than ever. As the UK's largest manufacturer of aftermarket automotive replacement emissions equipment, Klarius understands this need and offers cost-effective solutions to exhaust system issues.

Troubleshooting an exhaust system may reveal that the main components, such as the diesel particulate filter (DPF) or catalytic converter (CAT), are functioning correctly, and the issue lies elsewhere. This could be good news for both the garage and the motorist, as mechanics can turn to Klarius for targeted repair options that can save time on the ramp and deliver cost-effective repairs.

Klarius offers a comprehensive range of problem-solving products for exhaust systems, such as replacement exhaust pipe sections, couplings, joints, and more, which are readily available for same day delivery through local distributors. And, with access to over 11,000 references, all Klarius products are available for a wide range of vehicle makes and models.

"Our exhaust component kits are designed to help garages provide high-quality repairs quickly," says James Ellison, Sales Director at Klarius. "We offer a range of targeted solutions for various types of exhaust system problems, including both temporary and extensive repairs, flexible couplings, and bespoke items too."

Klarius products are made from high-grade materials to ensure excellent quality, and are offered with a minimum 2-year standard warranty and a Fit First Time guarantee. This helps ensure garages and mechanics not just meet but go beyond their customers' expectations.

See for yourself how Klarius can help supply high-quality repairs while reducing time and costs.
