The Fiat 500, or Cinquecento as it's fondly known in Italy, is more than just a vehicle; it's a testament to Italian creativity, characterised by its daring styling and innovative technology. Originally launched in 1957 and designed by Dante Giacosa, an illustrious figure in light car design, this car has been a symbol of Italian spirit for decades. With a recognisable design and compact dimensions, the Fiat 500 is a model of style and functionality.

Fast Facts:

- The Fiat 500's name, "Cinquecento," is not just Italian for 500. It's a nod to its original 1957 model, which was powered by a 479cc two-cylinder engine.
- It is popularly known as "The Mighty Mouse." This playful nickname reflects its compact size and ability to zip through narrow city streets with ease.

- Believe it or not, the Fiat 500 has been featured in many Hollywood blockbusters. It had a starring role in Pixar's movie, "Cars," where it was characterised as Luigi, a small Italian Fiat 500.

Maintaining the performance of such a vehicle requires premium parts, and that's where Klarius comes in. The company showcases an unwavering commitment to innovation, industry expertise, and product quality. The new additions in this parts release expand an already extensive catalogue of over 11,000 applications, demonstrating Klarius' versatility and vast scope.

Utilising its in-house research and design facility, Klarius develops its products to meet or exceed original equipment manufacturer (OEM) standards. Furthermore, relevant parts are type approved by the Vehicle Certification Agency (VCA) in the UK, and the TÜV in Germany. A 'Fit First Time' guarantee and a minimum two-year standard warranty across its product range ensures less time on the ramp and peace of mind. Moreover, orders placed by 5.30 PM are eligible for next-day delivery to stockists and distributors in the UK.

So, if you have a Fiat 500 on the ramp, or indeed any vehicle, specify Klarius when ordering a replacement exhaust to secure a longer-lasting repair for your customer. Experience the benefits of innovation, customer success, and quality by choosing Klarius.
