

Klarius expands product range including parts for the VW Golf 2019

23 October 2024

Klarius Products continues to lead the aftermarket emissions industry by adding a range of new emissions control components to its ever-expanding catalogue. This month, 23 new parts have been introduced, including exhausts for one of the most popular hatchbacks on the road—the Volkswagen Golf 2019.

The VW Golf is a household name across Europe and has earned its reputation for reliability, solid build quality, and a smooth driving experience. Since the introduction of the Mk7 Golf in 2012, Volkswagen has continually refined the model, and the 2019 version offers cutting-edge technology, enhanced comfort, and exceptional fuel efficiency.

As always, Klarius ensures that its high-quality components are designed to meet or exceed original equipment standards, so the legion of VW Golf drivers out there can continue to enjoy top-tier performance and durability from their vehicles.

Fast Facts About the Volkswagen Golf:

- A best-seller: The VW Golf consistently ranks as one of the best-selling cars in Europe, with over 35 million units sold globally since its launch in 1974.

- World Car of the Year: Despite its humble origins, the Volkswagen Golf has won the prestigious World Car of the Year award twice—once in 2009 and again in 2013.
- Daring to be digital: The 2019 Golf was one of the very first models to feature a fully digital cockpit, which replaces traditional physical dials with a suite of digital displays.

With over 11,000 parts in its catalogue, and next-day delivery available for placed before 5:30 PM, Klarius continues to be the go-to source for all your emissions control component needs. Volkswagen Golf owners across the UK can rest assured that they'll find the perfect parts to keep their cars running smoothly and efficiently.
