

Worn Again Technologies becomes a Gold-Level Sponsor of EuRIC

28 January 2025

Worn Again is proud to announce that it is now a Gold-Level sponsor of the European Recycling Industries Confederation (EuRIC). This partnership strengthens the company's commitment to building a sustainable and Circular Economy, both within the textiles sector and wider industry.

EuRIC is the leading voice for a competitive European recycling industry, representing more than 5,500 companies as it advocates for recycling's role in Europe's industrial transition. With a combined turnover of almost a hundred billion Euros to the EU economy, EuRIC members transform waste into valuable resources, supporting 300,000 green jobs and bridging the gap between circularity and climate neutrality.

Toby Moss, Director of Business Development at Worn Again, said: "Becoming a Gold-Level sponsor of EuRIC is a key milestone for us. Sustainability is not something any business – or even industry – can achieve in isolation. This collaboration underscores the importance of working together to scale innovative solutions that divert waste from landfills and incineration and instead transforms it into valuable resources.

"EuRIC's work aligns perfectly with our mission to accelerate the Circular Economy and inspire systemic change in the global textiles industry."

With its advanced chemical recycling technologies, Worn Again extracts polyester and cellulose from post-consumer textiles, offering outputs that can be reintroduced into the supply chain.

As a Gold-Level Sponsor, Worn Again will actively contribute to EuRIC's vital initiatives, including offering expertise and support across educational outreach, industry collaboration, and advocacy for progressive recycling policies. These initiatives aim to build a unified framework for sustainable practices across industries and ensure that resources remain in continuous circulation.

"As recycling innovators, we are at the forefront of Europe's green industrial evolution," added Toby. "Together with EuRIC, we aim to amplify the impact of recycling technologies and help shape policies that make a tangible difference for our planet and future generations."

Julia Ettinger, EuRIC's Secretary General welcomed the sponsorship stating: "We are delighted to welcome Worn Again Technologies as a Gold sponsor. Collaboration with pioneering companies is essential to driving innovation and accelerating the transition to a more circular future. Worn Again's expertise and commitment to sustainability will be a significant asset to EuRIC's Textiles branch, which represents the collective interests of Europe's textile recycling and re-use industries."

About Worn Again Technologies

Worn Again's innovative chemical recycling process reclaims virgin-quality products and returns them to the supply chain. Its scalable process—developed through investment, research, and dedication—allows textile manufacturers to separate and decontaminate PET resin and cellulose from end-of-life textiles. Worn Again enables plant operators to become an essential part of the textile industry's future, producing superior materials for manufacturers across multiple industries and becoming a solution for an economically fractured part of the textiles supply chain.
