

Klarius expands its range, including exhausts for the SEAT Arona and Volkswagen Polo

30 September 2025

Klarius Products has released 21 new aftermarket emissions control components, covering over 552,000 vehicles in the UK and 2.4 million across Europe. This latest update includes components for Ford, Hyundai, Kia, Nissan, Peugeot, Renault, SEAT, Škoda, Vauxhall and Volkswagen models.

The highlights of this month's release are new exhausts that fit both the SEAT Arona and the Volkswagen Polo (2017–2022), two popular vehicles from different branches of the Volkswagen Group that share a common exhaust set-up. This new part offers coverage for 182,338 vehicles in the UK and 740,981 across the EU, making it a key addition for garages supporting these high-demand platforms.

Built on the MQB A0 platform, the SEAT Arona and VW Polo offer distinct looks and personalities, but under the surface, they share a wealth of components that includes emissions control hardware. Klarius' new release means it can now deliver a high-quality, direct-fit part that serves both models.

Whether your customer drives a practical Polo or a sporty Arona, Klarius has the OEM-equivalent part to keep their emissions system performing as it should.
